Stewards are governed by the provisions of the current AMHA Rulebook. Stewards are responsible for a complete knowledge of the regulations, duties, and authority, which pertain to their office. Stewards are reminded that they have no authority in connection with the management or judging of the show. Stewards shall keep themselves available to judges, exhibitors, and management to clarify the application of the rules involved. It is their duty to observe and report immediately any instance of a violation of the rules to the management and make recommendations for the improvement of the show. Violations and recommendations must be included in this report.

It is obvious; however, complete as rules may be, they can never cover all possible situations that may arise. If a matter can't be solved by interpreting the rules to the letter, the solution to be adopted by those responsible should follow as closely as possible the principle and spirit of the rules.

REPORT OF ADDITIONAL INFORMATION, INCLUDING PROTESTS & VIOLATIONS OF RULES

As the official steward one must clarify the application of AMHA rules and investigate all situations so as to promote a smooth-running show. In most cases problems are resolved before violations occur or protests need to be made. For the record, state in full the specific nature of the event(s) and how they were resolved. Include names, addresses, and membership numbers when applicable. Keeping communications open between approved Show and AMHA offices are the key tools to protecting the interest of all parties. Use additional sheet if necessary.
